Block Harris Has Advantage in Willimanuc Bout-Chicago Nationals Summon Kling to Report-Duckpin Team Loses to Providence.

Willimantic, April 6.—The attraction at the Windham A. C. this evening drew a fair crowd and there was considerable interest shown in the different events. The first prelim was a wrestling match between Affred Cote and Larry Gray. Cote won in straight falls in 6.05 and 4.50 minutes respectively.

Young Bertley falled to show up to go against kid Connell in the second prelim in a boxing bout. The latter went a three round exhibition with Harry Denman. It was very good. The main event was a six round boxing match between Block Haris (colocid) and Abe the Newsboy of New London. Harris had the best of the first, founth and sixth rounds. The second, third and sixth rounds. The second, third and sixth rounds. The punch to mouth in the opening round. He was cautioned quite a little by the referee for clinching. NARROW AND THIN MARKET. Followed Call Loan Rate Rise.

New York, April 6 .- The stock mar ket today was narrow and thin, and the motives prompting the light trans-actions were correspondingly obscure and, presumably, unimportant as a re-flection of any happenings in the outflection of any happenings in the outside world.

A strong contrast is presented in conditions existing in the London market and here. In the former an unbridled speculation is going on side by side with a state of disorder in the finances unparalleled in any recent history. In New York, on the contrary, the depletion of bank reserves by gold exports is viewed with entire indifference and without any demand for speculative use to exercise a check on the outward flow of the precious metal.

Much surmise is expended to find a plausible explanation for the anonamslous conditions. One proffered explanation is that an understanding and agreement exist amongst the leading banking authorities at all the great financial capitals to co-operate for safeguarding the threatening position in London. It is for this reason, as supposed, that New York bankers perceive the shipments of gold to London with equalimity, relying on the reflected benefit to come to the New York market by the relief of the London position. The contradictions in the London situation are attributable to the fact that tax money left uncollected by the failure to enact the governthe fact that tax money left uncollect-ed by the failure to enact the govern-ment budget lies in the private London ment budget lies in the private London banks and serves to stimulate the wide speculation in rubber shares. The unstable wavering of the rubber shares for two days past under a process of attempted realizing points to the vulnerable spot which causes anxiety in London. From Paris, on the other hand, comes the intimation that the tightening of the purse strings of the Bank of France against the London demand is by express request of the Bank of England, in order to curb the rubber share speculation. To reconcile this attitude of the English bank with its payment of a premium over the market price to draw American eagles from New York is a feature of the problem especially puzzing to New York observers.

from New York is a leature of the problem especially puzzing to New York observers.

Sales-of exchange egainst the gold shipments brought down the price in New York today to a point that barred further gold engagements, even with the Bank of England's proffered premium still in force. With the engagements already made larger than the actual existing surplus reserve of the banks in the weekly statement last Saturday, the call loan rate roday began to show an inevitable response. The early average rate was nearer three per cent, and later in the day the rate rose to above that figure.

Predictions of an increase in the dividend on United States Steel formed a lever for lifting prices in the early dealings, but a decline followed the rise in the call loan rate.

Bonds were steady. Sales, par value, $1.397.000. United States fours registered declined one-quarter per cent. on call.

More of the Marra-Burdick.

If Dan Marra has any intention of running Louis Burdick's Fitchville man Mr. Burdick would like to meet Marra this evening at The Bulletin office at 7.15. Manager Burdick writes to the Sporting Editor of The Bulletin showing that the feeling between himself and Marra is at the boiling point, so that both men are requested to come without their guns or bowie knives.

Burdick says that Marra was a flat failure as a boxer, Bill Collins hawing put him out in one round in a match arranged by Burdick.

Then Marra made a crack that he could beat any Fitchville runner, but when Burdick produces a local man Marra wants to substitute a runner named Tuckey. Burdick's challenge is for Marra alone and if there is any business on that basis Burdick is ready for his end of it.

VANDERBILT CUP RACE

ON LONG ISLAND PARKWAY Application for Sanction to Event in October.

Quite unexpectedly the Automobile Club of America announced last week through its official organ, the Club Journal, that application had been made by the Motor Cups Holding company, of which W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., is president for sanction to hold a race for the grand prize, the famous gold trophy which was won by Louis Wagner at Savannah on Thanksgiving day, 1908. Furthermore, it was stated that the race would be held next October on a course on Long Island, part of which would include the Long Island motor parkway.

COTTON.

When the break between the A. A. A and the A. C. A. came a couple of years ago, each organization held a big roal ago, each organization held a big roa i race. That of the A. A. A. for the Vanderbilt cup was a national affair, while the grand prize race was international, and its stellar attractions were the famous drivers and cars whose names are household words in Europe, as well as in this country. The following pear, 1969, when the A. A. A. and the A. C. A. had compromised their differences there was no grand prize race, but the Vanderbilt race was run as usual, again as a national event. Plans were laid for this year's Vanderbilt rase, and it was thought that the grand prize event would be missing just as it was in 1909. The announcement that it would be held, and on the Long Island motor parkway, in October, created a great deal of astonishment and comment.

Otherwise, however, he has always been a very Hkable fellow, who made friends easily, both in a social way and through his co-workers at the different places where he has worked. He has been as far west as California, and is a fluent talker on most subjects. It was his fine voice, however, that made perhaps the largest number of friends among the musically inclined, for he was a splendid singer as well as good plane player. He came to this city five years ago and secured employment with the street railway company as a conductor. At that time he boarded at the corner of Main and Greenwood streets and soon had a large circle of friends. His winning ways and fine appearance carried him a long way, and practically every one who knew him expressed great surprise and incredulity at his arrest. It was not until many of the articles of jewelry found at his home were identified that they would believe he could be concerned in the burglaries, and even then they hoped that he would be able to prove his innocence of the Blackstone affair.

In the light of recent developments, however, they are inclined to remember many little incidents which they consider queer during their acqueintance with him, which in themselves His Musical Talents.

Part of what Nelson says is as follows?

"I tracked Joe Gans. I had a hatred in my heart like few men carry. It was not against Gans but the fact that he had fooled Siles and robbed me of the champsionship. There were two mes, Gens and I, who knew who was the real lightweight master. Bill Nolan used to say the only difference between Gans and myself regarding that point was that I admitted I was champion. Gans did not.

"Ad Wolgast is a youngster, a tough had, a clever one, but I don't think he can repeat. He buttee me in the face and caused that swollen jaw while many think his punches did the trick. Every eye which saw the pictures will remember how he gave it to me. Once he did it three times. He actually jumped from the floor to do it. The second one jarred me to my heels and caused me to less that fight.

"Ad and I have a lightweight trust. Sounds funny. Trusts are all the go in this decade. He figures he can beat me again. At least he will be able to pull a third bout should he lose. I can only be beaten again. If anyone else did it I would be down and out, but if he does it again he will only have repeated oven me. I won't lose. Just bear in mind that duel to death with Gans. Bet on Eattling Nelson and you will collect."

The Dane arose, strolled to the door, and then he turned and said: "It is the surest thing in the world—Nelson."
